A curious and interesting article has been published in the Medical Record, on the longevity and other biostatic peculiarities of the Jewish race, by J. Stockton Hough, M. D., which has attracted considerable attention in Jewish circles, and will repay the perusal of insurance men generally, in circles which are not Jewish. Dr. Hough's purpose is to show that according to statistical evidence the Jews as a people possess many peculiar advantages as to physical constitution and longevity, which makes them better risks for life insurance than members of other races. Roughly speaking, the number of Jews in the word at the present moment is about seven militions, the countries where they are most numerous, ranking respectively, Austria, Tarkey, Gorman, Eveland. LIPE INSURANCE AND THE JEWS. tions, the countries where they are most numerous, ranking respectively, Austria, Rassia, Tarkey, Germany, England, France, and last (and in this connection, least), the United States. From an examination of the census statistics of these countries, it is found that the mean average duration of life among Jews exceeds that of the Christians by about five years. Mr. Pressia says there is 1.61 per cent. of deaths among Jews, to 2.62 per cent. among the general population. In France Christians live, on an average, 36 years and 11 months; Jews, 48 years and 9 months. According to M. Mayer, a leading authority, one-half of the Christians die before reaching 30 years of age, while, among the Jews, one-half live to be 50 years old. Of the former, only 13.4 per cent. live to see their seventieth year, years old. Of the former, only 13.4 per cent live to see their seventieth year, while of the latter, 27.4 per cent reach that age. The fact, therefore, seems clear, supported as it is by the best authorities in France, England and Austria, that lews live longer, than Christians; which naturally suggests the question, why? There are many reasons to account for the fact, of which we need only mention one or two. To begin with, there are few or no Jewish paupers; and very few Jewish laborers or mechanics, engaged in mining or other hazardous occupations. Who ever heard of, or met, a Jewish stoker or coal heaver, a Jewish stone-cutter or steel-grinder? They fight shy of all dangerous trades, preferring stone-cutter or steel-grinder? They fight shy of all dangerous trades, preferring the soft goods line, jewelry, money-lending, picture dealing, real estate speculation, and the like. They also have more rest than Christians, for they keep both there own and the Christian Sabbath, and all Christian and political holidays in addition to their own, thus getting twice the relaxation and repose that their Christian neighbors have. They are also careful observers of very strict dietary, sanitary and certain well known Levitical laws for the promotion of cleanliness and the prevention of contagious diseases. Rarely do we find a drunken Jew, and still more rarely a Jewish meminess and the prevention of contagious diseases. Rarely do we find a drunken Jew, and still more rarely a Jewish member of the demi-monde. Indeed, Dr. Hough has no hesitation whatever in adirning that, in this respect, they are the most chaste of all races. The fact of women of other races having nearly three times as many illegitimate children as their Jewish sisters, indicates by his theory that the latter are three times as chaste. This, doubtless, has something to do with the small mortality of their children, although Jewish mothers are less prolific than Christians. But, no doubt, the great reason why proportiondoubt, the great reason why proportion-stely fewer children die among the Jews than in any other race is that the Jews marry at more favorable ages. Of 100 persons, 37 Jews to 29 Christians marry Hough's article on this very curious, ex-traordinary, and in most respects, most exemplary people.—[Insurance Age. ANIMAL MAGNETISM.

under 30 years of age, while 69 Jewish to 54 Christian women marry under the same age. In 1,000 marriages, where the man was over 60 years old and the woman 45, the proportions were 42 Chris-tians to 38 Jews. Male births also pre-dominate more largely among the latter than among the former, which circum-stance is attributed to the better phys-line and vornees are of welly married que and younger age of newly married lews, and particularly to the conscientions observance of certain Levitical laws, to which reference has already teresting details which we would like to touch upon, such as the extraordinary tumonity of this race from contagious and acquired diseases, the comparative rarity of suicides among them, and the fact that there are fewer Jews, proportionately, who break the laws, than Christians But we have already Christians. But we have already ex-ceeded the limits assigned this paper, and must refer such of our readers as desire farther enlightenment to Dr.

There are many

From the Chicago Tri bune, August 9.1 The dividing line between nature and The dividing line between nature and the supernatural is in some places very obscure. A young gentleman of the name of J. R. Brown, a resident of Red Oak, In., aged 21 years, called at the Tribbane office, yesterday, in company with a-Senator Woodward, of this city, and a entleman from Whiteside county. Mr. frown was introduced as one possessing temarkable psychological powers, of which the assembled editors were invited to make a test. We were informed that if any person would go to another part of the building and deposit any article whatsoever in a secret place. Mr. Brown, being blindfolded, would take the person by the hand and lead him directly to the place, the only condition being that the person depositing the article should keep his mind intently fixed upon it. One of the gentlemen of the Tribune thereupon went into an adjoining room, closed the door, and placed a coin inside a volume of the Poland Credit Mobilier report, and covered this volume with several other books. Returning, Mr. Brown, having a handkerchief tightly bound over his eyes, took this gentleman by the left hand, held the hand for a moment against his own (Mr. B's) head, and then walked against the door of the adjoining room. The door being opened, he marched against the beach and the second of the adjoining room. ited to make a test. We were info case having a dozen or more similiar openings. This door being opened, he placed the hand of the gentlemen, who paced the hand of the gentieman, who had secreted the coin, on the Poland had secreted the coin, on the Poland Credit Mobilier report, and said, "There it is." He did not claim to know what the thing was, but he knew where the place was.

Sereral experiments similar to the foregoing were tried, with the invariable result that Mr. Brown, by placing the hand of the experimenter on his own forehead, was enabled to walk directly to the place where the object had been placed. It was also ascartained that if a person should merely fix his thoughts on any object in the building, Mr. Brown would go directly to it having first placed the person's hand on his own head. The early explanation Mr. B. can give of his own powers is, that, when the hand is placed on his head, he sees a light leading to the object of which that person is thinking. He does not pretend to read any body's thoughts in any other way than this.

It is fortunate that Mr. Brown was born in the nineteenth century instead of the seventeenth, else he would have been burned for a witch. As it is probable
